

The tentative price of the program is expected to be $6600 - $7300, excluding transatlantic airfare, tuition for 6 hours of class credit, and personal expenses. Final program price will depend primarily upon the dollar: euro exchange rate (1.45 as of September 20, 2008) and to a lesser extent, number of students enrolled on the program. The program price covers all accommodations with priority placed on safe, convenient and quality service hotel accommodations during field trips (2-3 nights in Munich, Vienna, Bratislava and Prague, one night in Salzburg – see back for program schedule) , chartered bus logistical transportation throughout field trips, meal support (for the 90 meals on the 30 day program, in the form of organized meals or cash stipend for open meals), admissions for required activities, and special cultural and academic events and activities. Students are not required to fly with the group, but group airfare should cost approximately $1300.
